Goals for Coaches

- Treat your players and opponents with respect.
- Be the type of person you want your players to be.
- Inspire a love for the game and the desire to compete fairly.
- Respect the judgement and interpretation of the rules by the officials.
- Don't publicly question any official's decisions and never doubt their honesty.
- Discipline those players on the team who display unsportsmanlike behavior.
- Realize you are a teacher and understand that the soccer field is a classroom.
- Be more concerned in the well being of your players than in your win-loss record.
- Teach your players that the rules of the game are mutual agreements, which no one should break.
- The length of practices and competitions should take into consideration the maturity of the children.
- Follow the advice of a medically qualified person when deciding an injured player is ready to play again.
- Develop respect for the ability of opponents, as well as for the judgement of officials and opposing coaches.
- Be reasonable in your demands on your player's time, energy and enthusiasm - they need other interests too.
- Ensure that equipment and facilities meet safety standards and are appropriate to the age and ability of your players.
- Children play for fun and enjoyment, and winning is only part of this. Never ridicule or shout at the children for making mistakes or losing a competition.
- Avoid over-playing the talented players. The 'just-average' players need and deserve equal time. Be sensitive to the less talented, they have potential.
- Make a personal commitment to keep yourself informed on sound coaching principles and the principles of children's growth and development.
