PLAYERS

- 1) All Major league games will use a continuous batting lineup and all players submitted on the lineup card will bat. Late arriving players should not be added to the lineup card until they arrive, once they arrive the player will be added to the last spot in the lineup, regardless of where the team is in the batting order. A player purposely (refusing to play, has left, or been removed from the lineup) missing his spot in the lineup will be removed from the game, an out will be charged to the team (exception, no out is charged for a player being removed from the game due to an injury or illness), and the player will NOT be allowed to return to the lineup or play defense. A player mistakenly batting out of order does NOT need to be removed from the game but is subject to batting out of order rules.
- 2) Defensive substitutions are open, but all Major league players will play a minimum of 3 defensive innings. The only reason for a player not playing 3 defensive innings is a) disciplinary (you must notify opposing manager prior to the start of the game) b) injury or illness, or c) end of game.

PITCHERS

- 1) All pitchers, once removed from the mound, may not re-enter as a pitcher.

- 3) Pitchers rest days are determined by the pitching graph sheet, a rest day is a complete day of no pitching, the number of hours between pitching appearances is not a factor in determining appropriate rest days.
- 4) Regular season pitch counts and rest days do NOT factor into tournament pitching rules.
- 5) There WILL be balks, but they must be egregious. Umpires will be instructed to be very lenient with balks.
- 6) A pitcher who has 3 hit by pitch in one inning or 4 hit by pitch in any game will be removed from pitching the rest of that game.

- 3) When there is a play at any base, the runner MAY slide to avoid contact with the defensive player. If the player does NOT slide and is deemed to be unsafe by the umpire, they may be called out. This rule does not apply to a batter that has hit and is on his way to 1st base. Base runners may NOT slide head first when advancing to the next base, but may dive head first to return to a base.

(The manager is then responsible for relaying ground rules to the team). Any umpire has the authority to order a player, coach or team attendant to do or refrain from doing anything that affects the administration of the rules and to enforce prescribed penalties. Umpire jurisdiction begins upon the umpires arriving at the field (within the confines of the field) and ends when the umpires leave the playing field at the conclusion of the game. Any umpire's decision which involves judgment, such as a hit is fair or foul, a pitch is a strike or ball, or a runner if safe or out, is final. If there is reasonable doubt about some decision being in conflict with the rules, ONLY the head coach (or acting head coach) may ask that the correct ruling be made. The umpire making the decision may ask another umpire for information before making a final decision. No umpire shall interfere with another umpire's decision unless asked by the umpire who made the original ruling. No umpire may be removed from a game unless he/she becomes ill or is injured. His/her right to disqualify players or to remove non-players for objecting to decisions or for unsportsmanlike conduct is absolute. Ejections will be made at the end of playing action.

GAME PROTESTS

A protest shall be considered only when based on the violation or interpretation of a playing rule. No protest shall be considered on a decision involving an umpire's judgment. Any umpire's decision which involves judgment, such as if a hit is fair or foul, a pitch is a strike or ball or a runner if safe or out is final. Equipment which does not meet specifications must be removed from the game and shall not be the basis for protest. The managers or acting managers of contesting teams only shall have the right to protest a game. They may not leave the dugout until receiving permission from the umpire.

Protests shall be made as follows:

- a.) The protesting manager shall immediately, before any subsequent play begins, notify the umpire that the game is being played under protest.
- b.) Following such notice the umpire shall consult with the associate umpires. If the umpire determines that the decision is in conflict with the rules, the umpire shall reverse that decision. If, after consultation, the umpire is convinced that the decision is not in conflict with the rules, the umpire shall announce that the game is being played under protest. Failure of the umpire to make such announcement shall not affect the validity of the protest. The managers of both teams will then have the umpire sign their scorebooks at the point of infraction.

Any protest for any reason whatsoever must be submitted by the manager, first to the umpire on the field at the time of the infraction, and then in writing to a League Representative within 48 hours. The umpire-in-chief shall also submit a report (verbally or in writing) immediately.

The League Representative will then form a committee of commissioners who are not associated with either of the teams involved in the protest. A protest meeting date shall be set and held within 1 week of notification of protest, and both managers will be notified. The committee shall hear and resolve any such protest as above, including playing rules. If protest is allowed, game will be resumed from point when infraction occurred. The game will be scheduled to be played within one week of protest meeting date. Lineups and batting orders will remain the same as the originally played game.

NON PROTESTABLE VIOLATIONS

- 1) Non protestable violations should be reported to your commissioner as soon as possible. If you are uncomfortable reporting the violation to your commissioner, any other commissioner can be notified. Game protests are for actual playing rules on the field of play, see game protests above. Non protestable violations are instances that are in direct conflict with RCYB playing rules off the field of play that are not easily identified, basically any type of cheating, ie. Illegal rosters, minimum playing rules, illegal players, illegal/doctored bats, etc.
- 2) Non protestable violations can be brought to the commissioners at any time after the violation is identified. It does not need to be done during the game, at the time of the violation like a game protest. Once notified, the commissioners will investigate to see if the instance did in fact happen and if it is in fact a violation. If a violation did in fact occur, the commissioners who are not associated with the team involved will take appropriate action up to and including removal from the league for all coaches and players involved. In addition all games throughout the season in which the violation occurred will be subject to possible penalties up to and including forfeits.
