

Player Code of Conduct

As players, you are the most important people in the program. As the coaches, it is our goal to help you reach your goals. To do that, we need your commitment, and we will enforce high expectations as it refers to your attitude, effort, and respect. With your commitment, we can help you reach your baseball goals while having fun in the process.

We will push you and at times it may feel uncomfortable. You will have to learn to deal with adversity. We will teach you to be mentally tough, and to learn from your mistakes. It will be hard at times, but that is what will make it worthwhile in the finish. Embrace every aspect of it and you will have the time of your life!
